

The location of each outfall must be identified by a white marker post on the top of the batter. The post must be visible throughout the year.

Markers for outfalls including those for field underdrains